

The Winn Feline Foundation enhances the relationship between cats and humans by fostering improvements in feline health through research and education. Many Winn-funded studies have provided information used in veterinary practice every day.

Winn funds medical studies to improve the health and well-being of all cats. More than $5 million has been awarded in grants that have changed cats' lives. Winn also sponsors an annual symposium on feline health topics for veterinarians, technicians, breeders and cat lovers, co-sponsors international veterinary conferences, and publishes articles that educate veterinarians and the public about feline health.

So much of what we know about feline health has changed, and Winn has been at the forefront, uncovering new information, stimulating interest in the veterinary community and getting the word out to every cat owner. Winn's website and blog focusing on feline health studies worldwide, winnfelinefoundation.org and winnfelinefoundation.org/education/cat-health-news-blog are important resources that help keep cat lovers and veterinarians informed about the most recent news in cat care.

Every cat, every day benefits from Winn-funded research.

Honor Roll Programs Recognizing Veterinarians & Technicians

“For the Purrrson whose skills I admire and trust, the words “Thank You” alone didn’t seem quite enough. To express my gratitude, where could I begin, by honoring your profession with a gift to Winn.”

Winn Feline Foundation offers a program designed to promote and enhance the relationship between cat owners and their veterinary health care team. Make your tax-deductible donation by saying Thank You.

Honoring extraordinary caregivers:

Cat owners often experience a deep appreciation for the care their cats receive at their veterinary hospital, a sentiment they may find difficult to express yet long to honor. Winn offers the ideal solution to this very human quandary: our Honor Roll programs.

The Veterinary Honor Roll

Established in 2007, the Veterinary Honor Roll not only expresses gratitude in a tangible way to a worthy veterinarian, it also provides funds for feline health research – a gift that will resonate for years to come. Results from this research delivers improvements in feline medical care your veterinary health care team uses every day.

Steven Hull, DVM, from Arlington, Texas, was the first veterinarian recognized through the Veterinary Honor Roll program in 2007. Honored by California Veterinary Specialists in Ontario, CA, Geri Wegner, RVT, was the first technician added to the Technician Honor Roll in 2015.

Veterinary professionals proudly display the framed certificate in their veterinary hospitals for clients to view.

The Technician Honor Roll

The Technician Honor Roll (CVT, RVT, LVT) was established in 2015 as a complement to the Veterinary Honor Roll.

For the Cat Owner:

Your cat deserves the best in nursing care and it takes everyone on the veterinary health care team to make that happen. Do you have a favorite extraordinary technician that provides the tender loving care your cat companion deserves?

For the Veterinarian:

Veterinary technicians make important contributions to the health and well being of all animals, and the success of today’s veterinary practice. They are an important part of a veterinarian’s health care team.
